DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 27 thru 35 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Matsubara et al. '923. See, for example, Fig. 1 and column 3, lines 43-. Matsubara discloses a thin-film capacitor (capacitor structure) comprising a lower electrode (first electrode) 3, dielectric layer (high dielectric material) 4, and upper electrode (second electrode) 5. The lower electrode is made from RuSi_2 and may consist of layers of ruthenium, ruthenium oxide, ruthenium silicide and stacked structures (see column 4, lines 24-27).
3. Claims 36 thru 38 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Chin et al. '365. Chin discloses (see, for example, Fig. 10 and column 5, lines 23-45) an integrated circuit device comprising a substrate (substrate assembly) 28, contact (interconnect) 50, and contact diffusion barrier (diffusion barrier layer) 50.

- a. Regarding claim 37, see column 3, lines 31-41.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 27 thru 35 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Larson '102 in view of Chin et al. '365. Larson discloses (see, for example, FIG. 1) a capacitor 10 comprising a bottom electrode (first electrode) 14, dielectric 16, top electrode (second electrode) 18. The bottom electrode comprises a diffusion barrier 22 and layers (additional conductive layers) 24, 26. However, Larson does not disclose the diffusion barrier made of RuSi_x . Chin, on the other hand, states in column 3, lines 31-41 that RuSi_2 is a preferable material for a diffusion barrier. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of invention to use RuSi_2 as the diffusion barrier since it establishes good contact to an underlying semiconductor material, as stated by Chin.

Product-by-Process Limitations

6. While not objectionable, the Office reminds Applicant that "product by process" limitations in claims drawn to structure are directed to the product, per se, no matter how actually made. In re Hirao, 190 USPQ 15 at 17 (footnote 3). See also, In re Brown, 173 USPQ 685; In re Luck, 177 USPQ 523; In re Fessmann, 180 USPQ 324; In re Avery, 186 USPQ 161; In re Wethheim, 191 USPQ 90 (209 USPQ 554 does not deal with this issue); In re Marosi et al., 218 USPQ 289; and particularly In re Thorpe, 227 USPQ 964, all of which make it clear that it is the patentability of the final product per se which must be determined in a "product by process" claim, and not the patentability of the process, and that an old or obvious product produced by a new method is not patentable as a product, whether claimed in "product by process" claims or otherwise. Note that applicant has the burden of proof in such cases, as the above case law makes clear. Thus, no patentable weight will be given to those process steps which do not add structural limitations to the final product.

The limitation "using chemical vapor deposition" merely recites a method of forming and does not deviate from the structure of a diffusion barrier made of RuSi_x . Therefore, such "product-by-process" language is given no patentable weight.

Response to Arguments

7. Applicant's arguments filed 7/9/01 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. See "product-by-process limitations" paragraph above.

Conclusion

8. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
